WeRateDogs Act Report

Contents
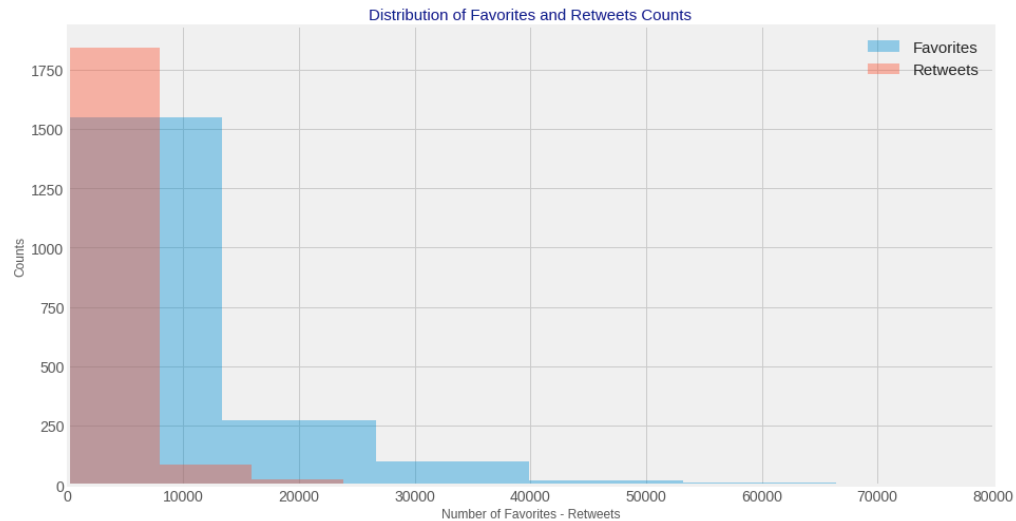

Introduction:

WeRateDogs is a Twitter account that rates people's dogs with humorous comments about the dog. These ratings almost always have a denominator of 10. The numerators, though? Almost always greater than 10. (11/10, 12/10, 13/10, etc.) Why? Because "they're good dogs Brent." WeRateDogs has over 4 million followers and has received international media coverage. So, what to do with these ratings? With dogs the best common question has to be which is the most popular dog? Can we get any relationship between Retweets, Favourites and Ratings? I have wrangled the WeRateDogs twitter data and have analysed it to get answers to these questions.

Favourites and retweets analysis:

We want to understand the relationship between favourites and retweets. Do people like tweets only? Retweet without liking the tweet? Using the favourites and retweets records to answer these questions

Distribution of favorites counts and retweets count follow the same pattern.

It turns out people who like the tweets are most likely to retweet them.

Favourites and retweets analysis by months and days:

Which month do people retweet and favourite tweets more? Let's figure it out.

The Highest number of Retweets and Favourites were on Wednesday followed by Monday then Tuesdays.

Dog breed analysis:

Let's figure out which breeds get favoured the most?

Bar chart of dogs' breeds with the top favorites counts

The Golden Retriever has the most amount of favorites, followed by the Labrador Retriever and Pembroke.

Golden Retriever is the most popular dog. I guess people just love its breed overall.
